

The Emergency Management webinar series is designed to provide participants with up-to-date information on emergency management best practices, approaches, strategies, technologies, as well as individual experiences and success stories. Each webinar involves various speakers presenting on and sharing their experiences related to the chosen topic. At the end of each session, there is an opportunity for questions posed by participants and those submitted in advance via email. In addition to airing live, each webinar is recorded and available for future viewing. These webinars are designed for emergency management practitioners though applicable to anyone with an interest enhancing their emergency management knowledge.
